

Adaptive Solutions Inc. Co-Founder Named Executive Director of the Philadelphia Chapter of the American Association of Legal Administrators

May 14, 2009, 2009, Norristown, PA – Adaptive Solutions, Inc., (ASI) a premier provider of support and consulting services for law firms and Fortune 500 corporate legal departments, and the Philadelphia Chapter of the Association of Legal Administrators announced Thursday that ASI co-founder and president Chuck Davis has been appointed executive director of the Philadelphia Chapter of the ALA for the 2009-2010 term, effective this month.

Davis was initially involved with the ALA as a member, when as an in-house technology specialist in the late 1990s, he served as the chairman of the chapter's systems and technology committee. More recently, as president and co-founder of Adaptive Solutions, Davis has been a key sponsoring business partner of the chapter.

“Our executive direction position has evolved over the past several years,” said Denise Magilton, president of the Philadelphia ALA. “Streamlining our technology initiatives is one of our primary goals this year, and with Chuck’s vast experience, we are excited and optimistic about what we can achieve. We are pleased to have Chuck as our executive director.”

As executive director, one of Davis’ first initiatives will be to assist the chapter in the creation of an outreach program for legal professionals who recently lost their jobs. More information about the outreach program will be available on the Philadelphia ALA website later this month.

“I’ve been involved in the legal industry for more than 20 years,” said Davis. “The ALA has been an invaluable resource to me, my company, and thousands of other legal professionals. I am pleased and honored to lead the Philadelphia chapter at this critical time in the legal market,” Davis concluded.
