Jamie Engelhard Joins Adaptive Solutions, Inc. as Lead Technical Engineer

April 11, 2011, Norristown, PA – Adaptive Solutions, Inc. (ASI) is pleased to announce that effective April 4, 2011, Jamie Engelhard has joined the company as a Lead Technical Engineer. Jamie will be adding further depth and experience to our well known team of outstanding legal solutions engineers.

“The addition of Jamie as a senior member of our engineering team is key to our continued success, and directly linked to the solutions and support which we provide to the legal community,” said Chuck Davis, president of Adaptive Solutions. “Jamie is a leader and a visionary, his input will greatly influence the direction of our company, as well as the systems we implement and support” Davis concluded.

“Adaptive is already widely recognized as a technical leader, both within the industry and by the legal community,” Engelhard said. “I look forward to working with such a talented and respected group. IT is undergoing such fundamental change right now with the advent of on demand web-based services, the desire for platform independent application delivery, and desktop virtualization getting traction faster than anyone expected. I am excited by the opportunities ahead and confident that ASI will be uniquely positioned to effectively lead their clients through this transformation and into the future.”

As a senior technical consultant for several legal solutions providers over the past 15 years, Engelhard brings a comprehensive skillset to Adaptive Solutions with a focus on Document Management Systems, applications and desktop deployment and management, and Virtual Desktop Infrastructure (VDI).
